Provisional protection of potentially confidential information was granted by order of 5 November 2024. UPC representatives were granted access to the unredacted versions. The Defendants commented as follows

b. in the alternative, the personnel named below working for the Defendants and the Defendants' affiliated companies:

("job title"/"current role": "first name last name")

- (1) [REDACTED]*
- (2) [REDACTED]*
- (3) [REDACTED]*
- (4) [REDACTED]*
- (5) [REDACTED]*

the Defendants may give notice to amend and/or add names to this list in the event there are changes in personnel;

III. in the further alternative, appropriate measures for the protection of confidential information, the nature and extent of which shall be determined at the LD Munich's discretion;

IV. to award the costs of the proceeding for the protection of confidential information against the Claimants.

Sanofi counterargued as follows:

First, the redacted information in Exhibit No. D.4 is Confidential Information as defined by Article 58 UPCA literally entitled "Protection of confidential information", meaning it is "trade secrets, personal data or other confidential information of a party to the proceedings [...]" (emphasis added). The Claimants have demonstrated in their Application why the redacted information is Confidential Information and should be protected as requested, and the Claimants thus refer to their Application in this respect. Nonetheless, the Claimants will add the following:

- Whether evidence can be protected under Article 262A RoP does not and shall not depend on whether it is essential for the determination of the claim for damages. It depends solely on the nature of the information, i.e. whether it is "trade secrets, personal data or other confidential information of a party to the proceedings [...]" under Article 58 UPCA. (emphasis added)
- The Defendants do not seem to contest that "financial information relating to the price of the licence", "gross margin of", "operating profit of" are Confidential Information, and at least none of them demonstrate that it is not.
- Moreover, "personal data" clearly includes the witness' name.
- The remaining of the redacted information is also Confidential Information as explained in the Application.

Second, restricting access to the unredacted version of Exhibit No. D.4 to the Defendants' named representative before the UPC in the present proceedings, and under his/her liability is clearly the only way to ensure the confidentiality. This request is justified and proportionate:

- It protects effectively the Confidential Information of the Claimants and enables the Defendants to prepare their defence through their legal representative, as no other person has to see the actual figures.
- The violation of the confidentiality of the Confidential Information in Exhibit No. D.4 would be irreparable for the Claimants. Indeed, there is no possibility to undo the harm in case Confidential Information was divulged. It is thus clearly wrong to argue that Sanofi's interest is sufficiently protected by the fact that a violation of the order to be issued (through disclosure of the underlying Confidential Information), would be penalized by a recurring penalty payment payable to the Court.

Third, the Court shall exclude case law quoted in another language than English without translation (e.g. by STADA (in German?) at paragraphs 6 and 7 of their comments), insofar as it is not in the language of proceedings and the Claimants just cannot understand it.

As a consequence, the Application reaches a fair and proportionate balance preserving the Defendants' rights to a fair trial and the Claimants' rights to effectively protect their Confidential Information. The Application is in line with the UPC case law quoted in the Application.

Sanofi thus ultimately requests the Court to:

- Grant the Claimants' requests as lodged on 1st November 2024, namely:
- Order that the witness statement provided as Exhibit No. D.4 contains Confidential Information in accordance with Article 58 UPCA and Rule 262A RoP;
- Order that only the Defendants' named representative before the UPC in the present proceedings shall have access to the unredacted version of Exhibit No. D.4, and under his/her liability.

o In the alternative:

♣ Order that the additional access to the unredacted version of Exhibit No. D.4 be limited to a single natural person identified within the Defendants, such person not being a person making operational or regulatory decisions relating to cabazitaxel, and who will be precluded from sharing any content of Exhibit No. D.4 8 Düsseldorf Local Division, UPC_CFI_355/2023, Procedural Order of the Court of First Instance of the Unified Patent Court issued on 27 March 2024, App_6761/2024 related to the main proceeding ACT_578607/2023 FRA01/30569349_5 11 with any third party whatsoever, even within the Defendants, under his/her liability;

♣ Order that such additional access be set up by the Defendants' named representative before the UPC in these proceedings via a videoconference system, with the impossibility for the natural person from the Defendants attending the videoconference to save a copy of Exhibit No. D.4 thus viewed or to take screenshots or to use any system allowing them to keep a copy of or record, even partially, Exhibit No. D.4.

- Dismiss all requests from the Defendants;

- Exclude case law quoted by the Defendants in another language than English without translation;

- Grant leave to appeal to the Claimants in case the Claimants' requests were to be denied, with a delayed enforceability of the first instance order until the Claimants have time to lodge an appeal and an application for suspensive effect of the first instance order;

- The Defendants have to bear the costs of this Application.

GROUNDS FOR THE ORDER

The application only partially succeeds.

I. LEGAL BASIS

The protection under Art. 58 UPCA is ensured by Rules 262 and 262A RoP and by Regulation (EU) 2016/679.

Regulation (EU) 2016/679 ensures the redaction of personal data as defined in the Regulation.

Rule 262 RoP ensures the protection of personal data and confidential information against disclosure to third parties who are not parties to the proceedings.

Rule 262.A RoP ensures the protection of confidential information in relation to the other parties to the proceedings. This is achieved by granting access to the confidential information to a limited number of persons and by issuing orders to the persons granted access. A fair balance must be struck between the interest of the other parties to the proceedings in a fair trial and in an effective defence and the interest of the applicant in keeping the confidential information confidential. To this end, paragraph 6 provides that the number of persons referred to in paragraph 1 shall be no greater than necessary to ensure compliance with the rights of the parties to the proceedings to an effective remedy and to a fair trial, and shall include at least one natural person from each party and their respective lawyers or other representatives.

II. CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION IN D4

Not all of the information highlighted by Sanofi as confidential in D4 is in fact confidential:

1. The witness's personal details and the copy of his passport (information currently redacted on pages 1, 6 and 7 of the witness statement) do not qualify as confidential information under Rule 262A of the Rules of Procedure. Therefore, access by the Defendants should not be restricted.

2. The remaining information qualifies as confidential information. They relate to details of the remuneration and accounting between the various members of the Sanofi group in respect of the licence agreements relating to the patent in suit and to commercial figures relating to actual sales and profits generated by the licensed product.

3. To the extent that Accord argues that the following information, currently redacted in D1, cannot be considered confidential, the Court does not agree:

a. In the tables in Appendix No. 1, the information corresponding to the “number of boxes sold to third parties” and the “net sales to third parties”, for each year and each country.

This information has not yet been disclosed by Sanofi in D3/D3. Firstly, the year 2020 is included in D4 but not in D3. Secondly, the figures are different. The Court could not find a single identical figure. There is no evidence that the D4 figures are publicly available.

b. Information currently redacted on pages 1 (Recitals) and 4 (Articles 3.2 to 3.5) of the license agreement in Appendix No. 2.

This information provides details of the accounting and handling within the sub-licensee framework. It is not show that this is publicly available.

c. Information currently redacted on page 10 (Schedule 2) of the license agreement in Appendix No. 2, with the exception of the royalty rates.

This information provides details of the accounting and handling within the sub-licensee framework. It is not show that this is publicly available.

III. FURTHER PROTECTION OF PERSONAL DATA

The witness's personal data are protected against disclosure to third parties by the mechanism provided for in Rule 262 of the Rules of Procedure. Any third party wishing to have access to the court files must submit an application. The parties to the proceedings will be invited to make observations on the application and may, in doing so, indicate any personal data to be redacted. The parties to the proceedings may streamline this process by filing an application under Rule 262.2.

Where personal data are included in court orders and decisions, the Registry will redact them before publication in accordance with Regulation (EU) 2016/679.

Defendants and their representatives will respect the personal data in view of their own obligations under Regulation (EU) 2016/679 and national law.

IV. FURTHER PROTECTION OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION

1. Where an application for protection is successful, access to the confidential information must be limited. At least one natural person must have access for each party to the proceedings. If there is more than one defendant and therefore more than one party, each of them is entitled to nominate a natural person (“one natural person from each party”). In addition, according to the wording of the law, access must be granted to all lawyers or other representatives of these parties to the proceedings. There is no numerical limit.

This means for the four groups of defendants

a. The eight Accord defendants are entitled to at least eight natural persons and legal representatives. They have nominated four individuals. Sanofi has not provided any specific facts as to why it has concerns about any of these four nominees.

b. The three Stada defendants are entitled to at least three natural persons and legal representatives. They have nominated four individuals. Sanofi has not put forward any specific facts as to why any of these four should be excluded or why there are any concerns about any of these four nominees.

c. The three Reddy defendants are entitled to at least three natural persons and legal representatives. They have nominated one individual. Sanofi has not put forward any specific facts as to why it has concerns about this one nominee.

d. The three Zentiva Defendants are entitled to at least three natural persons and legal representatives. They have nominated all employees working for the defendants and the defendants' affiliated companies involved in this lawsuit and subject to a confidentiality agreement under their employment contract, in any event all employees working in the legal departments and a qualified financial expert of the defendants or the defendants' affiliated companies involved in this lawsuit and subject to a confidentiality agreement under their employment contract, and in an auxiliary application five natural persons.

The main request will clearly not work as there would be no way to hold individuals accountable for any breach of the confidentiality order. With respect to the auxiliary request, Sanofi has not provided any specific facts as to why two of these five should be excluded or that and why there are any concerns with respect to any of these five nominees.

2. The following request shall not be addressed to the persons granted access:

♣ Order that such additional access be set up by the Defendants' named representative before the UPC in these proceedings via a videoconference system, with the impossibility for the natural person from the Defendants attending the videoconference to save a copy of Exhibit No. D.4 thus viewed or to take screenshots or to use any system allowing them to keep a copy of or record, even partially, Exhibit No. D.4.

Sanofi did not explain why such overly restrictive measures were justified. Any person who has access to the information is subject to a duty of confidentiality and is liable for any breach of that duty. This is sufficient to protect any confidentiality attached to the information.

3. The following requested order shall be addressed to the persons granted access:

♣ Order that the natural person will be precluded from sharing any content of Exhibit No. D.4 with any third party whatsoever, even within the Defendants, under his/her liability;

Indeed, any person who is given access to the information is subject to a duty of confidentiality and is liable for any breach of that duty. Persons granted access to the information are prohibited from disclosing the contents of Appendix D.4 to any third party, even within the defendants, under their responsibility.

V. NEXT STEPS

Sanofi is ordered to provide an amended redacted version of D4 within 5 days. This order has immediate effect.

VI. FINAL REMARKS

1. The question whether confidentiality should be granted is different from the question whether a fact or argument has been submitted late. The Court will deal with the question of late submission at a later stage.

2. Case law cited by Defendants in a language other than English without translation is not to be excluded from consideration, as the Court needs to know the law and the case law of other Divisions regardless of language. However, the defendants concerned are requested to adhere to the language of the proceedings and to provide English translations of the case law cited within 30 days. This order has immediate effect.

3. The costs of the confidentiality application are part of the costs of the proceedings and will be dealt with in the costs procedure.

4. The Parties shall file any further written submissions containing confidential information protected by this Order in two versions:

(a) an unredacted version which shall be treated as confidential and to which the persons referred to in this Order shall have access; and

(b) a non-confidential redacted version.

However, due to the shortcomings of the current Case Management System, the parties will have to file additional applications under Rules 262 and 262A RoP in order to trigger the workflows for the Registry to grant access to the unredacted version to the registered UPC representatives of the other parties. These requests can be kept short as they can only relate to this order.

If the parties wish to make further redactions with regard to personal data, they will also have to submit an even more redacted version.

ORDER

1. The witness statement submitted as Exhibit No. D.4 contains confidential information pursuant to Rule 262A of the Rules of Procedure, with the exception of the witness's personal details and the copy of his passport (information currently redacted on pages 1, 6 and 7 of the witness statement).

5. The Defendants may request that the Court's Order be amended in the event of changes in personnel.

6. Any failure to comply with this order shall render the persons named in paragraph 2 liable to pay a penalty to the Court for each breach of confidentiality.
